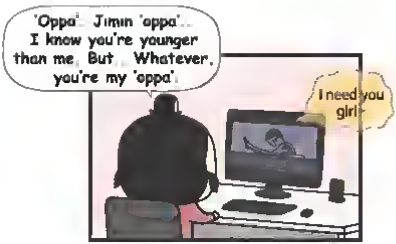
Oppa and Nuna

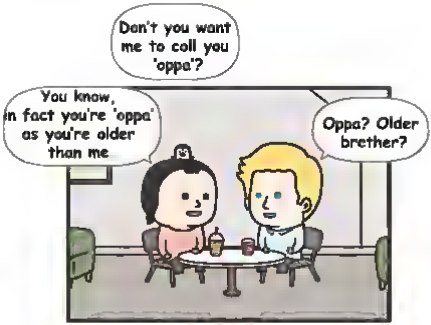
'오빠'

I like this word: Oppa.
*Oppa: Older brother (Called by a female)

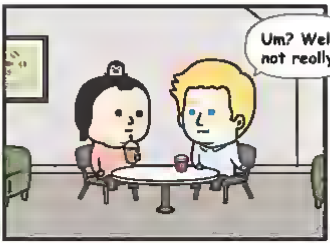
It makes me feel a bit awkward if I say it as I hardly have a chance to use this word.



I think it's such a cute word.



Once, I've heard that foreigners think this word is cute too. So, I asked Mev about it

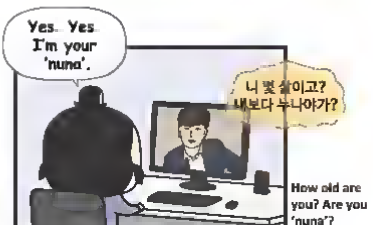


But Mev wasn't very keen on this word.

Anyway, for the same reason,
I like the word: Nuna, too.

'누나'

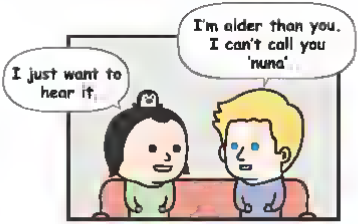
*Nuna- Older sister (Called by a male)



So I want to be called 'nuna',
but I just don't have the chance!

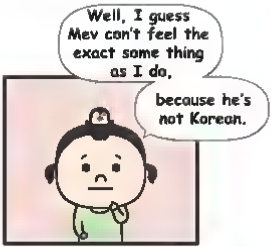
So-

I tried to get this satisfaction through Mev



But he refused to call me 'nuna'.

Finally,
I failed to be called 'nuna' by Mev.



I thought this

A few days later.

Mev thanked me

And his reward was...

*Nunim: Older sister (Usually called by mature male, which means very old woman.)

You know, normally 'nim' shows more respect, doesn't it?

I searched in the dictionary, 'nuna' and 'nunim' mean same thing.
